

What does it mean

when we

say

are going on an aeroplane?

Aeroplanes

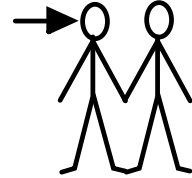

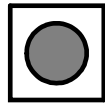

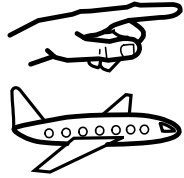

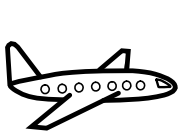

fly

the sky.

They

do

this

to take

people

to

other places.

People who are going on an aeroplane need to go to an airport. Airports can be very busy and can be noisy. If we are going to an airport someone from our family or a carer will be with us to look after us.

We will be told when it is time to get on the aeroplane. There will be staff there to help us. They will help us to find where to sit and will tell us what to do. It is important that we do what they tell us.

The staff will tell us when we need to wear our seatbelt and when we can take them off.

We could have something to eat and drink on the aeroplane. There are toilets on the aeroplane.

Aeroplanes need to move quickly to be able to get into the sky. The person who fly's the aeroplane is called a pilot and knows how to get the aeroplane in to the sky and how to keep it there. The pilot has lots of training for this.

The pilot knows when it is time for the aeroplane to land again and I will be told when it is time to get off.

I can help everyone if I try to be calm.
